TAX ON BANK CHECKS OFF; POSTAGE CUT

COMMITTEE TRIMS MILLIONS FROM REVENUE BILL

BY CECIL B. DICKSON
(Ass'd Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—The house ways and means committee, after weeks of juggling the figures and rates of the tax bill to give the government more income, today trimmed quite a few millions of revenue from the measure by taking the tax off bank checks and lightening the postage for the person who sends printed matter through the mail.

Then, recalling the many disagreements in committee that had sent rates scampering first this way, then that, and had frequently upset deliberated decisions reached after days of study, leaders considered plans to bring the bill up in the house under rules that would prevent members from smashing the schedule of rates prepared by the committee.

Yields 235 Millions

The bill, finished late today, will be considered by the house next Wednesday.

As it stand, the treasury estimated it would yield $235,000,000 compared with the $300,000,000 figure given out previously by committee members.

Repeal of the two-cent bank check stamp tax would be effective January 1, 1935, under the plan agreed upon today. This [illegible] 1933 calendar year.

Lowering of the postage rates on second class matter would become effective on July 1, 1934. It would reinstate those in effect prior to the 1932 act. The committee continued the present three-cent rate on first class matter for another year from June 30.

President Roosevelt was voted authority to cut the first class rate to two cents if the condition of the treasury justifies the reduction.

Newspaper Benefit

Assistant Postmaster General Howes had told the committee that if the present rates on first and second class matter were not continued for another year from the date of expiration June 30, the department's receipts would be reduced $75,000,000.

Newspapers, magazines and distributors of advertising matter will benefit by the return to the old second class rates.

Chairman Doughton proposed repeal of the bank check tax on the ground that it discouraged people from depositing money in banks. He was authorized to introduce the bill tomorrow.

Broadly speaking, the tax measure provides for a revision of the income and surtax rate structure, tightening up of the capital gains and loss provision of the income tax law, levying of a heavy tax on personal holding companies, reducing credits on reorganizations of corporations and reducing credits on foreign payments.

In addition, the bill provides for a retaliatory tax on nationals of foreign countries which discriminate against Americans abroad.

GOVERNOR WILL REMOVE 3 MEN

Michigan Public Utilities Members Charged With Neglect, Lobbying

BY GILBERT T. SHILSON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Lansing, Feb. 8 (AP)—Charging them with habitual neglect of duty and "obstruction of the interests of the people," Governor Comstock today instituted formal removal proceedings against three members of the Michigan public utilities commission. They were Chairman Kit F. Clardy, of Ionia, Harry C. McClure, of Flint, and Edward T. Fitzgerald, of Detroit. A [illegible] ring will be held Feb. 14. Clardy declared those facing the ouster proceedings will fight.

The other members of the commission, Robert H. Dunn, of Muskegon, and Harold J. Waples, of Ironwood, were found by the governor and the attorney general's department to be free of fault and were not included in the removal action. Both Dunn and Waples, after being given a clear record, submitted their resignations to be effective at the pleasure of the governor. Indications were they will remain as members of the commission for a few week at least.

Charges filed against Clardy, McClure and Fitzgerald alleged they were guilty of misfeasance, malfeasance, habitual neglect of duty and improper lobbying activities. The governor charged they delayed the Michigan Bell Telephone company and other rate cases at the expense of the people. He alleged they gave jobs to friends of members of the legislature to curry favor, and conferred with a lobbyist who was opposed to granting a pipe line permit to convey natural gas to Lansing.

Capone's Brother Leaves Prison If He Pays $10,000

McNeil Island Federal Prison, Wash., Feb. 8 (AP)—Ralph Capone, brother of Scarface Al, the gangster, will be freed February 27, after an illuminating experience in one of America's most remarkable penitentiaries.

That is, Capone gets out on the 27th after serving a sentence for income tax law violation, if he pays a fine of $10,000, Warden Finch R. Archer said today.

"If he does not pay this fine and can take the pauper's oath," said the warden, "he will, of course, have to serve 30 days longer for the fine, but under the law this fine still holds good as long as the man lives, provided he acquires any property."

McNeil Island prison has no walls. Nearly 1,000 men are allowed to work at improving prison facilities and to study with few guards, few restrictions, "no attempts to break their spirit," and extraordinarily cheerful conditions under which to live and better their education.

Upper Peninsula Stock Needs Hay

Lansing, Feb. 8 (AP)—Governor Comstock today asked for $500,000 of federal funds to purchase hay for farmers in the northern half of the lower peninsula and in the upper peninsula. He forwarded his request to Harry L. Hopkins, federal welfare administrator. The governor said the hay crop in these areas was less than 50 per cent of normal because of droth. He declared hundreds of farmers are in need of aid. The federal government recently granted $1,000,000 for the purchase of hay for Wisconsin farmers.

DOMERGUE STARTS FORMING NEW CABINET

BY ALEXANDER H. UHL
(Copyright 1934, By The Associated Press)

Paris, Feb. 8.—The aged and venerated Gaston Doumergue led anxious France along the path to peace today after 48 hours of violence, but the premier-elect met difficulties as he sought a "cabinet of political truce."

A veteran of political strife as former minister, premier, and president, Doumergue worked to perfect his "salvation government" in an atmosphere of sadness, with flags everywhere at half mast in honor of victims in Tuesday's and Wednesday's nights of terror.

Task Difficult

His smiling arrival from his peaceful country home this morning brought a happy rush of affection by a greatly-relieved citizenry, who acclaimed him with fond shouts of "Vive Doumergue!" and followed his automobile almost worshipfully.

He hoped to build his "ministry of premiers" in 12 hours, but his secretary tonight admitted that the task would have to continue tomorrow.

Policemen and guards, meanwhile got a breathing spell tonight from what the French press itself described as "insurrection" or "civil war" that took a toll officially set at 12 dead and thousands injured, with heavy property damage.

Riots Broken Up

There was one minor riot near the Madeleine church this evening. This the police quickly broke up. The general run of demonstrators, however, appeared content to await developments.

Hoodlums, nevertheless, were still clustered on street corners, but the rictous atmosphere of the last two days was completely changed with Doumergue's arrival.

A Socialist and Communist manifestation scheduled for Friday night worried authorities while a 24 hour general strike set for Monday by the French Federation of Labor aroused fears of a renewal of riotiag and perhaps even street encounters between moderates and extremists.

Another dangerous period was anticipated during the funerals of the riot victims, who will be buried at the cost of the city of Paris on Feb. 13.

Although Doumergue failed to form a cabinet as soon as he expected, his friends insisted this was because he was so long out of the political picture that he feels it necessary to confer with all

Crystal Lake Man Held As Murderer

Ludington, Mich., Feb. 8 (AP)—Charles Comley, 68 year old Crystal Lake resort owner who formerly was a member of the Chicago Board of Trade, will be arraigned March 10 in circuit court on a murder charge, for the death of Mrs. Bertha Bean, 62, in his cottage on Jan. 20.

Comley, who has admitted that he and Mrs. Bean, Chicago divorcee, lived together for four years although they were not married, was bound over to circuit court today.

Mrs. Bean was found dead at the foot of a basement stairway in Comley's cottage. Comley, who claimed the woman fell while he was out-side gathering wood, has been held since.

950 Million Voted CWA And Relief

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

(Copyright 1934, By The Associated Press)

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—The senate tonight passed the administration bill appropriating $950,000,000 additional for civil works and relief grants to the states after administration forces had defeated overwhelmingly Republican independent efforts to boost the total. It now goes to conference with the house.

The decision was reached without a roll call after Senator Cutting (R-N. M.), had lost 57 to 10 an amendment to raise the fund to $2,500,000,000—$2,000,000,000 of it for civil works and Senator LaFollette (R-Wis.), had been defeated 52 to 14 in an effort to increase the total to $1,500,000,000.

Seven and a half hours of spirited debate preceded passage, members being held several hours after dinner so as to leave tomorrow free for a special aviation contempt trial.

Back to Old Jobs

Senator McCarran (D-Nev.), won by 42 to 19 an amendment requiring all state relief and civil works directors to be appointed by the president and confirmed by the senate and obtained a promise from Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.), in charge of the bill, that the senate conferees would come back to the floor for another vote before giving in on the proposal in conference.

McKellar said Harry L. Hopkins, civil works and relief administrator, had told the appropriations committee the administration intended to reduce gradually the civil works force and hoped to send the entire 4,000,000 workers back to the farms and industry by early summer.

Seven Democrats, two Republicans and the Farmer-Labor senator voted for the $2,500,000,000 amendment. The Democrats were: Black, Bone, Costigan, Hill, Long, McCarran and Wheeler. Republicans: Cutting and LaFollette. Farmer-Labor: Shipstead.

The same "aye" lineup was found on the vote for the $1,500,000,000 amendment, with these additions: Hatch, Murphy, Pope, Russell, all Democrats.

AUSTRIA BARES CRIMINAL PLOT

Bombs Enough to Blow Up Vienna Found in Socialist Raids

BW WADE WERNER
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

Vienna, Feb. 8 (AP)—What an official communique described as "an unprecedented criminal plot of Bolshevists and Marxist elements" was uncovered in a series of police raids on Socialist centers culminating in the occupation today of the Socialist newspaper Arbeiter Zeitung.

Several thousand high-powered bombs, each large enough to blow up a building, were among the explosives confiscated in Vienna and nearby cities, said the statement.

"In other words," it added, "there were enough bombs to destroy entire sections of the city."

A number of leaders of the outlawed Socialist Republican Guards were arrested in connection with the reported discoveries, including the commandant of police in the Vienna municipality.

Several of the arrested leaders confessed, it was announced, but the extent and character of the alleged confessions were not revealed.

Trainman Killed Near Rhinelander In C. & N. W. Crash

Law Enforcement Champion Sought

Lansing, Feb. 8 (AP)—Appointment of Attorney General Patrick H. O'Brien as chairman of a committee of the United States Flag association to name the individual "who made the most outstanding contribution" to law enforcement in Michigan last year, was announced here today. Other members of the Michigan committee are: Francis T. McDonald, Sault Ste. Marie; and Mrs. Myron B. Vorce, Grosse Isle. The winner is expected to be announced by March 1.

MICHIGAN HIT BY COLD, SOO IS 36 BELOW

RELIEF PREDICTED TODAY; WORST SINCE 1889

(By The Associated Press)

The season's most severe cold wave, which drove temperatures throughout the state to new low records for the winter, was to continue tonight and Michigan residents, forecasts said, could not expect relief until sometime Friday.

At Sault Ste. Marie the thermometer today registered 36 below zero, the coldest since 1889, and widely scattered points throughout the lower peninsula reported readings of from four below to unofficial temperatures of 40.

Flint School Burns

Detroit and vicinity tonight expected the mercury to drop to five or ten degrees below after the cold spell sent the temperature down this morning to eight degrees.

Fires were reported from several points. Near Flint, nearly 600 pupils of the Beecher school marched out in order when flames were discovered in one of the three school units. A temperature of 11 degrees below existed at the time.

Sixty pupils of the Wolverine school near Cheboygan marched out of their school building when flames which started from an overheated furnace destroyed the frame structure.

Police Save Child

Three patrolmen who noticed fire on a residence in Detroit today saved the life of five year old Florence Cajocarix. The child was carried, sound asleep, from a smoke and flame enclosed room by the officers only five minutes before the roof collapsed. The house was destroyed. The father had gone to a store and the mother was working in a factory.

A frozen water coil, the result of the below-zero cold, caused an explosion in the home of Mrs. Frances Beall, 75, at Cassopolis, injuring Mrs. Beall so severely that amputation of one of her hands may be necessary.

The weather was fair throughout the state, reports said, and roads were comparatively safe.

In the Headlines From Washington

(By The Associated Press)

Administration forces in the senate defeated a proposal to increase the civil works appropriation for $450,000,000 to $2,000,000,000. Then passed the appropriation measure to provide $950,000,000 more for CWA and relief.

Secretary Morgenthau and a federal grand jury moved to prevent lobbying in the treasury and war departments.

Congressional investigators studied an audit showing profits as high as 90 per cent on army airplane orders.

Department of justice officials directed a relentless hunt for the kidnapers of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul brewer's son.

Senator Robinson (D-Ark.) left a White House conference with word of another administration compromise on veterans' benefits.

The house ways and means committee decided to take the tax off bank checks and reduce postage on printed matter.

President Roosevelt proposed a 6,152,000-ton limit on sugar production and benefit payments to cooperating producers.

President Roosevelt planned a special message to congress on stock and commodity exchange regulation.

Two new investigations, of munitions and electrical rates, were considered by the senate.

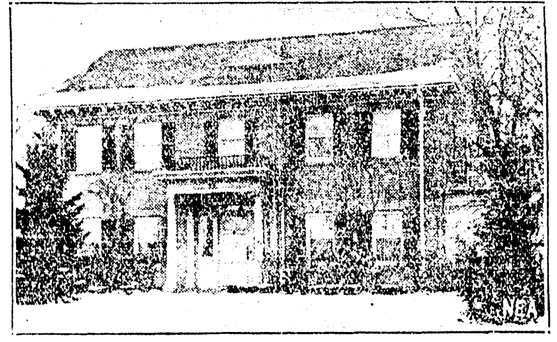
Did Comstock Say He'll Run Again?

Grand Haven, Mich., Feb. 8 (AP)—Politicians here wondered today if Governor William A. Comstock had not divulged his plans for seeking renomination in a statement during an address at a Democratic rally here.

"I look forward to the years 1935 and 1936," the governor said, "as years when such new laws may be enacted as will conform to the strides in government mental thought which are rapidly changing today."

He said afterward that the state might have to revert to the property tax if, as he believed probable, the federal government adopts the sales tax. Both state and federal sales levies, he said, would be too great a burden.

Husband and Wife Reunited



After 22 days in a kidnapers' hideaway, Edward G. Bremer, 36, wealthy St. Paul banker-brewer, returned to his home Thursday after a fortune of $200,000 in cash had been paid for his freedom. He is shown above with his wife, who was near collapse when weeks passed without word from the missing man. Their St. Paul home is pictured below.

Sankey Kills Self In Sioux Falls Jail

Sioux Falls, S. D., Feb. 8 (AP)—Verne Sankey, kidnaper and gangster, called "America's public enemy No. 1," cheated the law tonight by committing suicide.

He hanged himself with two neckties in his cell at the South Dakota state penitentiary here, where he was held on federal charges of conspiracy to kidnap for $60,000 ransom last February, Charles Boettcher II, Denver broker.

His body was found by a guard stationed in a corridor nearby. The notorious outlaw, after fashioning the crude noose with the ties, knotted it to a bar, then stepped off his cot.

E. M. Neeley, deputy United States marshal, one of the two guards assigned to Sankey's cell block, discovered the body. Although he had been in the corridor at the time, he was out of sight of Sankey.

Thus ended the law's plan to send Sankey to prison for a term up to life imprisonment. His counsel, Ben B. Laska, Denver, had disclosed Sankey had planned to plead guilty tomorrow to a charge of conspiracy to kidnap for ransom in the Boettcher case.

With his companion, Gordon Alcorn, Sankey was to have gone into court tomorrow to plead. Both Sankey and Alcorn were arrested last week at Chicago.

Simultaneously with Sankey's arrest, his wife was taken into custody at the Sankey turkey ranch where the Sankey gang had held Boettcher prisoner for ransom. Mrs. Sankey, then at liberty on $5,000 bond, was placed in the county jail and her bond raised to $25,000.

She was charged with conspiracy to kidnap for ransom.

Soon after Sankey's arrival here, his attorney, Ben B. Laska, Denver attorney, announced the criminal would plead guilty. Alcorn, the attorney said, probably would do likewise.

WIFE SCREAMS

Sioux Falls, S. D., Feb. 8 (AP)—Hysterical over the sudden suicide of her husband, Mrs. Fern May Sankey, the pretty wife of the 42 year old kidnaper screamed for an hour in her cell in the county jail here tonight before she could be quieted.

She was under the care of a physician and a trained nurse.

"Why couldn't I have spoken to him. Why couldn't I have spoken to Him," she sobbed as the news was broken to her by Holton Davenport, Sioux Falls, one of her attorneys.

The Sankey's two children, Ethel, a 15 year old daughter and Orville, a 6 year old son, were expected to arrive here tomorrow morning.

Since Sankey reached here Friday Mrs. Sankey has been looking forward to a meeting with her husband. It was understood a meeting would be arranged after a suspension plea of guilty by Sankey had been filed and sentence pronounced.

DONDERO TO SPEAK

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—An address by Representative Dondero (R-Royal Oak, Mich.) will mark the observance in the house of Lincoln's birthday.

On the request of Republican Leader Snell of New York, the house gave unanimous consent for Dondero to speak on Abraham Lincoln for 20 minutes after the house convenes February 12.

MAN IS KILLED AT ST. JACQUES

Car Strikes Snowbank; William Ross Thrown Through Windshield

Thrown through the windshield of his truck when it struck a snowbank and overturned, William Ross, 56, a fisherman residing at St. Jacques, was killed instantly while driving home alone highway U-2 near the Ogontz bridge last night. It is believed that frost obscuring the drivers vision through the windshield caused him to get too close to the side of the road. The truck turned over several times.

The Delta county sheriff's department and Coroner William Miloski were called to make an investigation of the accident, which is believed to have occurred shortly after 6 p. m. Mr. Ross' throat and head were slashed and he received a skull fractures. The body was brought to the Allo funeral home in Escanaba to be prepared for burial.

Mr. Ross was born at Brookside, Wis. He leaves a widow, one married son, Henry, of St. Jacques, three sisters and three brothers. The brothers are Frank and Albert Ross of Brookside and George of Nahlen, Oregon. The sisters are Mrs. Anna Larson, 207 North 11th, Mrs. Sarah Dewar, Perronville, and another sister at Tipler, Wis.

L'Anse, Mich., Feb. 8 (AP)—Carl Johnson is in St. Joseph's hospital in Hancock in a serious condition and William Ciesiko is in custody of sheriff Meador Seavoy, of Baraga county, as the result of a shooting fray here late Wednesday night. St. Paul, Feb. 8 (AP)—Freedom, bought and paid for with a fortune in money was Edward G. Bremer's again today when he returned from 22 days in a kidnapers' lair, wounded and exhausted.

The full $200,000 ransom, $85,000 in $5 bills and the rest in $10 bills, was delivered by Walter Magee Tuesday night after a hitch in previous plans for payment had thwarted arrangements, arousing fresh anxiety among the family that Bremer might never return.

BANK IS TARGET FOR CRITICISM

First National, Detroit, Putrid, Leyburn Tells Senate Inquiry

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—Alfred P. Leyburn, chief national bank examiner, told the senate banking committee today that the First National Bank of Detroit was insolvent to the extent of $4,000,000 when the Michigan banking holiday was declared.

The examiner prefaced a deluge of criticism of the bank's policies and leadership with the remark that the condition of the bank with respect to loans "wasn't rotten—it was putrid."

He assailed the leadership of Wilson W. Mills, the president at the time the bank closed, asserting Mills had raised his own salary from $40,000 to $50,000 a year in January, 1923, shortly before the bank holiday.

"He enjoyed the distinction of being the only person in the United States to do that," Leyburn said.

Referring to the governing committee of the institution as "the so-called governing committee that didn't govern," Leyburn said the committee "was absolutely dominated by Mills."

The examiner told the committee Mills had contended the bank was 80 percent liquid at the time discussions about reopening were under way, and added that "he had to borrow money to pay off the first 5 percent dividend."

The committee today summoned A. A. Ballantyne, undersecretary of the treasury in the Hoover administration, who participated in the discussion on the night of February 13, the date of the holiday proclamation issued by Governor William A. Comstock. Two others who will be asked about this phase of the investigation are Eugene W. Stevens, federal reserve agent at Chicago, and F. G. Awalt, acting comptroller of the currency in the latter part of the Hoover administration.

Parties Hesitant

"The ministry will be formed tomorrow morning without fail," said Secretary Mallarme after seeing Doumergue.

It was known, however, that parties in the chamber of deputies remained skittish about throwing their weight behind the "political truce" the premiere-elect asked.

For example, the radicals want former Premier Edouard Herriot, a radical socialist leader to have the foreign affairs portfolio, while the moderates worked for former Premier Andre Tardieu.

As a result, it was predicted, neither may get the job.

The forthcoming government, also, already had one interpellation on hand that of Deputy Besson, who asked for "light" on its "general and monetary policy."

As part of M. Doumergue's desire to form an absolutely nonpolitical cabinet, M. Herriot told the radicals, the premier-elect is planning to offer a seat to the socialist leader Leon Blum.

Wrecked by Suspicion

Except for the disorders near the Madeleine, Paris was calm tonight. Thousands of sight-seers visited the Cafe Weber, where a field hospital was set up to care for those hurt in the riots, the Rue Royale, a leading "battlefield" in the demonstrations, and the ministry of marine, whose first floor the mobs sacked Tuesday.

Those places now are historic. Heavy forces of mounted guards and police, armed with rifles, were stationed at strategic points, but had little to do.

Doumergue announced as his objective a government of "sages"—of "elder statesmen" thoroughly experienced, like himself, in state craft.

A dozen former premiers are available for posts in the new cabinet, a successor to that of Edouard Daladied which was wrecked on the rocks of suspicion growing out of the $40,000,000 Bayonne pawnshop fiasco, and economic maladjustments.

Observers listed the special capacities of these former leaders as follows:

Andre Tardieu and Joseph Paul-Boncour, foreign affairs; Herriot, education; Pierre Etienne Flandin and Joseph Caillaux, finance; Pierre Laval, interior; Louis Barthou and Alexandre Millerand, justice; and Jules Steeg and Albert Sarraut, colonies.

It was learned today that one factor forcing the resignation of Premier Daladier's ministry was his demand that martial law be declared to curb the rioting.

President Lebrun refused. Later national union veterans told M. Lebrun they were unarmed in their anti-police demonstrations Tuesday, when ten were fatally wounded by gunfire, but proposed to riot, with arms, Wednesday.

Daladier's withdrawal satisfied them, and last night's widespread skirmishes involved communists and hoodlums.

M. Doumergue was given quarters in the foreign office once occupied by the late Aristide Briand many times the French premier. Without delay he started the peril beset cabinet-forming task.

From another quarter, meanwhile, came another element to the political scene. The Duc De Guise, pretender to the French throne, issued a manifesto that sought "to rally all Frenchmen of all parties to the monarchic principle" and blamed "60 years of the republic" for Tuesday's "flow of blood in the streets of Paris."

Michigan Mayors Urge Seaway Pact Approval

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—A petition signed by mayors of 65 Great Lakes cities urging ratification of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty with Canada was presented to the senate today.

Mayor Daniel W. Hoan, of Milwaukee, president of the Great Lakes Harbor Association, submitted the petition to Vice President Garner.

Signatures included those of 19 mayors of New York, 8 of Ohio, two of Indiana, 19 of Michigan, 16 of Wisconsin, and one of Minnesota.

The petition said no other public works propect insured such vast benefits to the entire nation. It said construction of the seaway would gove immediate employment to thousands, would provide a new coastline of approximately 3,500 miles, and would permit industrial and consuming centers in the Great Lakes area to exchange products with the Atlantic, gulf and Pacific ports in coastal and intercoastal traffic. This traffic, the petition said, comprises more than 80 per cent of the ocean shipping of the United States.

The petition set forth that a 27-foot channel adequate for ocean going commerce now exists everywhere except on connecting channels of the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence river, and that, hence, the seaway is already more than 90 per cent complete.

Michigan mayors who signed the treaty include:

H. Lee Pocklington, Algonac; L. S. See, Charlevoix, Frank Couzens, Detroit; Martin J. Cain, Cheboygan; C. J. Sawyer, Escanaba; Peter Peterson, Gladstone; W. J. Engle, Harbor Beach; N. Ray Markland, Highland Park; Max Templeton, Lansing, A. P. Zirkaloso, Lincoln Park; H. L. Hill, Manistee; D. A. Knaggs, Monroe; W. W. Richards, Muskegon; D. Charles Levinson, Petoskey, Arthur L. Valada, River Rouge; C. B. Wing, St. Ignace; A. J. Short, Sault Ste. Marie; E. L. Thirlby, Traverse City; William R. Telfer, Trenton.

HELP PROMISED POOR SETTLERS

Families Will Be Given Homes Adjacent to Forest Units

Milwaukee, Feb. 8, (AP) The Wisconsin Forest-Home Homesteads, Inc., which will direct rehabilitation of settlers on unprofitable farms in the northern part of the state, was organized here today at a meeting of the seven directors and Earl W. Tinker, regional federal forester.

R. B. Goodman, Marinette, acting chairman of the state conservation commission, was named president of the new corporation. Prof. George S. Wehrwein of the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture was named vice president; Prof. Noble Clark, assistant director of the agricultural experiment station at Madison, was named secretary, and Tinker was elected treasurer.

The Wisconsin unit has been allotted $750,000 in the farm homestead program and the plan is to relocate some 400 families, tak adjacent to national ing them off unprofitable submarginal farms in 20 northern counties and placing them in compact communities adjacent to national forest areas. It was decided to select a full time manager with headquarters in a northern Wisconsin city, the city to be named later.

Each family agreeing to relocation will be given a modern home on about ten acres of land from which the homesteaders will get their food but no cash crops. Their cash income will be derived from approximately 125 days work a year in the national forest at $3 a day. Indebtedness of about $2,000 is to be repaid by the homesteador to the corporation within 30 years.

Grand Rapids Has First Permits To Sell Glass Liquor

Lansing, Feb 8 (AP) The first authorization to sell hard liquor by the glass outside the Michigan metropolitan district today went to Grand Rapid.

Two hotels the Pantland and the Morton had their license for glass sales approved by the state liquor control commission Service by the drink should begin in the hotels tomorrow as the privilege becomes effective immediately upon receipt of the licenses.

The commission's action brought abandonment of a previous plan to have glass sales begin in all outstate communities at the same time. He said applications which meet bond and other requirements will now be approved as fast as they are received.

Additional liquor stores will open this week in Bay City, Monroe, and Ann Arbor, Picard said. Dorris Soboan will be the manager of the Monroe store.

Picard, in a communication with Big Rapids authorities said cities have no right to pass closing ordinances for beer gardens not in conformity with the state-wide regulation of 2 o'clock. "We want the closing hour to be uniform."

Early Grand Jury Action Sought In Kelley Kidnaping

St. Louis, Feb. 9 (AP) Prosecutor Arthur Anderson of St. Louis said today he will seek the earliest possible grand jury action in the cases of three men and a woman arrested yesterday, in the kidnaping of Dr. J. D. Kelley, in 1931.

Preliminary hearings for the four were set for March 6, but this was looked upon as merely a routine action, which will not be required if a grand jury indicts the quartet.

Counsel for the woman, who was released today on $25,000 bond, denied to reporters that she had any connection with the kidnaping. The attorney said she knew none of the other defendants, but added she had talked on the telephone to one of them in an effort to collect medical fees for her husband, a physician.

The other three, held in jail, are Bart Dayil, who was acquitted in May, 1932, of a charge of robbery in connection with the attempted kidnaping of Oscar Johnson, wealthy St. Louisan, John C. Johnson, 51 year old hermit whose farm shack in St. Charles county corresponds to a description given by Dr. Kelley of his place of imprisonment, and a man known to his associates as "The Dago."

The four, with five others, were named yesterday by Adolph Fiedler, 320 pound former justice of the peace in Maplewood as the kidnapers of Dr. Kelley.

BANKER KEPT IN HIDEAWAY FOR 22 DAYS

Dr. H. T. Nippert, friend of the family, had been ordered to accompany the gang to the hideout to treat Bremer. The orders to Nippert were in the envelope containing three notes slipped under his door the night of Jan. 20 when a milk bottle was hurled through the front door glass.

Dr. Nippert himself refused to confirm the report, which came from an unidentified member of his family. Bremer had been painfully injured from the blows of pistol butts wielded by the kidnapers when they invaded his automobile after stopping him en route to the bank.

What Nippert's instructions were was not revealed. He was blindfolded after meeting the kidnapers by prearrangement, and taken on a night automobile ride of about five hours before the hideout was reached.

Pushed from Sedan

Law enforcement agencies, headed by the federal department of justice, already had launched an intensive manhunt.

Ten or 12 men were in the gang which seized him Jan. 17, shortly after he had left his eight year old daughter, Betty, at the summit girls' school. Bremer told police and federal investigators who questioned him at the home of his father, Adolph, wealthy brewer.

The banker appeared at his father's home near midnight last night after being pushed from a small sedan bearing three of the gang at or near Rochester, Minn., 85 miles south of here, about 8 p. m., yesterday.

Unshaven, nervous, and with healed wounds about his head, Bremer was ordered to bed for a rest by Dr. Joseph Spratka, summoned while authorities questioned the victim.

Dr. Spratka said Bremer was "very, very nervous" but wound on his head were healed. They were suffered, Bremer related, when two of the kidnapers invaded his automobile after he had stopped for an arterial highway enroute to his office.

When one man sought to enter the car, the banker tried to get out the other door, but he was met with another of the gang wielding a pistol. Both got in beside him and, he believes, slugged him over the head simultaneously.

His car, profusely blood splotched, was found abandoned in an outlying residential district shortly after Walter Maree, wealthy contractor friend, had received an anonymous telephone call instructing him to pick up a ransom note on the rear steps of his office.

During his captivity Bremer was kept in a dark room with guards working in relays of two, constantly sitting behind him night and day, he said. When he regained consciousness after being seized he was blindfolded.

He was cautioned not to look around on pain of death.

Judging from the number of voices he heard while he was a prisoner, Bremer believes there were 10 or 12 men in the gang.

Last night, after at least four notes had been received from the gang during his captivity, Bremer was freed. Upon entering a bus depot in Rochester, he learned he had missed the last bus for the Twin cities but took a train to Owatonna where he caught it, arriving here about midnight and going directly to his father's home.

Notes Under Door

Three of these notes were received by Dr. H. T. Nippert, physician friend of the Bremers, on Jan. 20. They were in a large envelope addressed to him and slipped under his front door. A milk bottle had been thrown through the front door window to attract his attention during the night.

Dr. Nippert, however, did not find the notes until the next morning when an unidentified man telephoned him to "go down and look at your front door and don't be afraid."

Addressed in ink by the kidnaped Bremer, to Dr. Nippert, the envelope contained notes for him, Maree, and Adolph Bremer. Nippert's missive instructive him to deliver the other two which he did.

A fourth communication was believed to have been received sometime during the last three days, since Maree, the intermediary turned over the ransom to the gang during that time. The elder Bremer appealed last Saturday to the gang to contact him and pave the way for negotiations.

Insull's Grecian Stay Prolonged

Athens, Feb. 8 (AP) A report that the stay of Samuel Insull, Sr., in Greece had been officially extended to Feb. 14 was denied today by General John Metaxas, minister of the interior.

DETROIT RETAIL SALES INCREASE

Conditions Best Since 1931, Says Report of Merchants

Detroit, Feb. 8 (AP)—Revival of industrial employment on a scale not reached since 1931 has been reflected in a 20 per cent increase in retail sales, exceeding all estimates, the Retail Merchants Association reported today.

Charles E. Boyd, saying that "everyone seems to be doing better than he did a year ago," announced that department store sales increased 20 per cent in January over January, 1933; food and drug store sales increased 13 per cent and apparel shops 26 per cent.

Boyd said that collections are showing an estimated gain of eight per cent and that "practically all retail lines are showing plus, instead of minus figures."

As a further indication of the extent to which business has improved in the automobile industry, the Chevrolet Motor Co. announced today that it had 52,203 persons on its payrolls on January 31, and that the company is within 3,000 of its greatest payroll of all times.

Production increased more than 50 per cent during the last week in January, the announcement said, standing at 3,304 cars on January 31, compared with 2,141 on January 24.

The announcement added that the company is taking back only its old employes.

Tax Cut League Under Scrutiny

Lansing, Feb. 8 (AP)—Miss Evelyn S. Mershon, state welfare director, said today she will investigate the status of the Michigan Tax Reduction League which is reported to include weight tax reductions in his call for the coming special session of the legislature.

Officers of the league sometime ago at a hearing here admitted that small donations were received to finance the campaign. Miss Mershon said the league was not registered with her office as required for organizations soliciting funds in the state. Governor Comstock plans to include weight tax reductions in his special session call.

Oklahoma Names College and Lake After Alfalfa Bill

Oklahoma City (AP)- Governor William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray's name probably will endure in Oklahoma long after he has left the chief executive's office.

One county of the state was named Murray as was Lloyd in honor of the man who headed the constitutional convention and served as speaker of the first legislature. Another was named Alfalfa.

A small agricultural college at Tishomingo, Murray's home town, is called the Murray School of Agriculture in his honor.

Recently the legislature provided for construction of a huge lake in Carter and Love counties near Ardmore, and members decided it should be called "Murray lake."

Board of agriculture members have voted to name a $150,000 girls' dormitory to be constructed soon at Oklahoma A. & M. college "Murray hall."

The total motor tax bill of the nation soared to an all-time high in 1933. The special user taxes paid by motor vehicle owners during the year amounted to approximately $1,180,000,000, or $130,000,000 in excess of the sum paid in 1932.

FARMERS GET CRUMBS

A FEW crumbs that dropped from the table of Michigan's sales tax administration, were scattered to the farmers of the state on Wednesday, when it was ruled that feed for livestock and poultry, intended for marketing, will be exempted from the payment of the state sales tax. Under the ruling feed for beef cattle being fattened for the market, will be exempt from taxation, but feed purchased for dairy cows and other livestock on the farm, not to be marketed immediately, will be forced to continue to carry the sales tax.

The complicated ruling on poultry requires hatcherymen to pay the tax on eggs when the chicks, ducklings, and so forth are retained for egg production or consumption. When the chicks are offered for sale the eggs are not taxable. If the farmer retains part of his poultry flock through culling or other cultural methods, he is required to pay the sales tax on 50 per cent of the hatchery eggs regardless of the proportionate number of chicks called and those sold.

In the ruling of the department handed down on Wednesday no mention is made of the statewide demand by farmers for sales tax exemptions on all purchases of seed, fertilizers and machinery and neither is any mention made of exemption from taxation of processing materials used by manufacturing companies of the state.

Members of the state legislature who framed the sales tax law, have repeatedly held that the act was not intended to apply to materials used by manufacturers or to feed, fertilizers, seed or machinery purchased by farmers of Michigan.

BOLDS TO DETERMINATION

GOV. COMSTOCK, at least, will not be successfully charged with a lack of determination to force his pet $20,000,000 "insurance" bond issue upon the people of Michigan, for he has announced that he will again press the issue at a special session of the legislature that is to be called for Feb. 19. The governor's proposal was roundly licked at the last special session and judging from state-wide comments, there is no reason to believe that the sentiment of legislators against the executive proposal will be materially changed at the session convening this month.

In addition to the proposed bond issue, the governor will place before the legislature a program of legislation that includes some thoroughly redistributive proposals, but there is a general fear among those who are interested in the welfare of the people at large that in part at least the proposals that worthy measures may be defeated because of the extraordinary assistance which appears to be lined up, without attempt on the part of the people concerned, to the entire program.

LET US BE WARNED

THE head of the Japanese navy is on record as declaring that it is the most modern and effective branch of the Japanese service and will outrank that of the American navy.

On the other hand, Congress is considering a measure which would give the president authority to limit the size of the navy. Both of these moves are in line with the naval building program that had gone into effect.

And a former department chief, not minister Hirota, wants to follow up these naval programs are to be decided by the admirals of the two countries, an unbridled arms race will be inevitable and war will be hardly preventable.

All of which emphasizes the way in which the relations between the nation and Japan have drifted into the danger zone. Not in years has the prospect of war been discussed so openly. Not since the Washington conference has the navy building race been carried on in such grim earnest.

The ordinary American, who finds it hard to think of a good reason why he should send his boy halfway around the world to die fighting a nation which lies on the other side of the Pacific, is apt to grow a trifle nervous as he contemplates this situation.

Yet it may be that the horizon is not quite as dark as it seems. All this talk of war, ominous as it sounds, at least brings the problem out into the open and forces it on our attention. We at least are getting plenty of warning that there is trouble ahead.

We are not likely to repeat Europe's tragic mistake of 1914 when, as Newton D. Baker once remarked, the world went to war in a fit of absent-mindedness.

Our task right now is to survey the situation thoroughly, to know the worst, and to lay our plans accordingly.

That such plans must include maintenance of an adequate fleet goes without saying. But that cannot be the only item on the program.

The difficulties between the two nations must be examined carefully, and peaceful ways of settling them must be sought.

We are being warned in plenty of time. It ought not to be impossible for us to profit by the warning.

HOPEFUL COMPUTATION

ONE of the effects of the devaluation program apparently will be a reduction in the actual size of the U. S. government's stupendous debt.

Shortly before devaluation was announced, Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale pointed out that although the debt recently increased in round figures from $21,000,000,000 to $24,000,000,000, the total actually is substantially less, if a reduction in the value of the dollar is taken into account.

Viewed in this light, he remarked, the government debt today is really about 12 per cent less than the debt as of March 4, 1933 despite the fact that in cold figures it is 15 per cent greater.

All this is comforting enough to a nation filled with uneasiness by a growing federal debt. But it indicates that the ordinary processes of arithmetic aren't going to be quite enough for us in our future assessment of national profit and loss.

A method of reckoning which makes 24 billions less than 21 billions is something our school books failed to teach us.

PRACTICAL DUELLING

DUELLING is an archaic and silly business, as everybody knows. But it at least must lend a dash flavor to national life, especially when it is carried on in the modern manner, blood-curdling.

Two highly placed Frenchmen had an altercation about the Spanish national wonder, each other's mothers and bombs. A duel, in a deserted stadium, proved without question to be the perfect way to settle the matter. There was no danger that any bullets would hit anybody. Both duellists missed by a mile. Honor was satisfied, and presumably, with the exception of some fully grown merely shows that the relief workers have good sense.

A girl who is looking for a job must be dressed neatly; and nowadays being neatly dressed, for a woman, means among other things the wearing of silk stockings.

Lament the fact as we may, it nevertheless is true that silk stockings are just about a necessity, now, and not a luxury.

And the fact is a significant measure of the way in which living standards have changed in the last few years.

CHAPTER XXXI

Gypsy had just fallen into a troubled sleep after tossing restlessly for hours. The shrilling of the telephone startled her bolt upright in her twin bed. Across the way Tom slept soundlessly, one arm flung over his head.

She scrambled for her mules, could not find them in the dark, and rushed to silence the clangorous summons. There was something unearthly about being awakened thus in the dead of night. Everything looked eerie in the darkness; the telephone table and stool were a dark blob against the moonlit wall.

"Hello! Hello!" Her heart was thudding painfully. It might be a wrong number of course, it might be. No use borrowing trouble.

There was a faint buzzing at the other end. Then she heard her mother's voice, infinitely shaken, infinitely weary.

"Gypsy!"

She said "Yes!" quickly, passionately, as if by so doing she might take whatever trouble there was from the frail, sloping shoulders of the woman in Blue Hills. Something dreadful must be wrong, her thoughts ran. Something dreadful . . . what?

"Gypsy, father's been hurt. He's very . . ."

She did not catch the rest. There was a cold sweat on her palms now, on her forehead. There was sickness at the very core of her being.

"Mother, how? Where?"

"A car; don't ask me now. But hurry. Tom's there?"

"Yes, yes, of course! We'll come right away."

She heard her mother sigh, as if in mortal sadness. Then the receiver clicked. She was alone in the vast stillness of the night.

A light flashed on down the hall and Tom came out of the bedroom, his dressing gown flung on over his pajamas, his hair rumpled small-boy fashion. Gypsy forgot in that moment all their difficulties and misunderstanding. He was again her prop and stay, her beloved partner.

"Daddy," she gulped. "He's hurt! It must be very serious. Mother says to come right away."

She was clinging to him, sobbing as though her heart would break. But the moment of weakness was soon over. She began frenziedly to dress.

"I've got the car in town. That's lucky." Tom was already knotting his tie, fully dressed. He looked pale and serious.

"Oh, you have?" She hadn't known this and it was significant. She and Tom hadn't been telling each other things these days. But she didn't care now why he had it nor how. All that mattered was that it would get them to Jersey as quickly as possible.

When they got down to the street, the sleeping baby on his father's shoulder, they found broken clouds scudding over the face of the moon. The day's rain, the week's rain, was quickly drying in the gutters as the west wind blew through the narrow streets.

"Two o'clock," Tom offered, as the attendant wheeled the little car out into the middle of the big empty concrete garage. It was cold, dreary, desolate. Only this man, in his shabby blue overall, yawning and blinking over a copy of a detective magazine, was visible. Gypsy shivered and held David's warm, limp softness close to her as Tom took his place beside the wheel. It was strange; it was all strange and infinitely terrifying. They plunged into the maw of the Hudson Tunnels and flashed by solitary policemen who gazed at them incuriously. Once on the other side of the river, Tom made time. The roads were empty except for an occasional cruising taxi.

"Fifty minutes," Tom announced as they passed the first sign reading, "You are now entering the incorporated village of Blue Hills; 20 miles an hour speed limit."

Gypsy sat tense, rigid, her fingers curving around the baby's shawled form. Upper Dean street . . . home . . . with lights in all the windows and the doctor's coupe parked in the drive. She was in a fever of suspense. Her knees were shaking, her hands icy.

"Here, let me take him." Tom's capable hands took the bundle from her and she was free to rush up the worn steps.

Clytie opened the door soundlessly at their approach, an unfamiliar Clytie in a black dress put on hastily, her woolly mop all awry.

"How is he?" Gypsy whispered.

"The doctor say he very bad," Clytie said, rolling her eyes. "He say you come right up." She reached for the baby and held him with a capable air, leaving Tom to follow Gypsy up the broad stairs.

Everything in the big house was hushed. Beatrice and Bertram sat gravely on the window seat at the head of the staircase. The girl twin had been crying. Her eyes were red rimmed and the handkerchief she pressed to them was sodden. She whispered that Gypsy was to go straight up. Mother was waiting for her.

The wide room with the old fashioned rounded box the room Gypsy remembered from earliest girlhood a "mother's room," was still and orderly now. A twist of white paper shaded the lamp on the little cherry table beside the bed. Doctor Bannerman was there. Mrs. Morell was there. A nurse was there. Gypsy, who had been frightened before, was transfixed at the sight of the latter. If Daddy had a nurse he must indeed be desperately ill. The Morells never had had a trained nurse in the house except once for a day and a night when Mother came home from the hospital.

The doctor caught sight of Gypsy and Tom in the doorway and said something inaudible to Mrs. Morell. She lifted apathetic eyes, and followed him out into the hall.

He gave the girl a warning glance behind her mother's back.

"Perfect quiet," he said. Gypsy thought proudly that he was mistaken if he thought she was going to make a fuss. Why, to make a fuss now, with Daddy desperately ill, would be the worst things that could happen!

"How did it . . . ?"

Mrs. Morell sat down in the low chair beside the machine in the sewing room. It was untidy, littered with scraps of chintz. There were white threads all over the shabby Axminster carpet. No one noticed or cared.

"He went to a board meeting—the town board," Mrs. Morell said lifelessly. She had been weeping but she was beyond tears now. She spoke mechanically, as though she had been all over this ground before. "He usually gets home before 11, but when he didn't tonight I wasn't worried. I

THE FIRST ARRIVING

Step by step, not leap by leap,
We climb the slope, however steep,
For he who tries to travel faster
Is first to fumble to disaster
Upon the peak of surest fame
The first arriving slowest came,
Made many trails, built many bridges,
To help them over rills and ridges

Step by step, nor leave a stone
Before the one ahead is known
To rest upon a firm foundation,
Not leave to luck your next location
The first arriving won the day
Because they came the slowest way,
For so it is a man advances,
By taking care, not taking chances,

Step by step, not leap by leap
We gain a fortune we shall keep,
By planning, working, praying, fasting,
Acquire a fame that shall be lasting
The first arriving did not guess
Or liable to achieve success
Though passed at first by shouting brothers,
Arrived long, long before the others

Mrs. Parent has been ailing for the past two years, suffering from complications, but her condition was not considered serious and her death which came suddenly was a shock to members of the family and to friends.

She was born August 10, 1874, in Clarence Creek, Province of Ontario, Canada.

Mrs. Parent was a devout member of St. Anne's parish and was prominent in church activities. She was a member of St. Anne's Altar society, of the Societie of St. Croix and of the Society of the Stations of the Cross.

The body was taken to the Allo Funeral Home to be prepared for burial and will be returned to the family home Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Funeral services will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Anne's church, Rt. Rev. Msgr. R. G. Jacques, V. G., officiating. Burial will be in St. Anne's cemeterv.

Surviving are her sons and daughters: Mrs. William Sovey, Escanaba; August Parent, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. Charles Pepin, Escanaba; Mrs. Edward Seymour, Duluth; Joseph, Escanaba; Arthur, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. Homer LaCasse, Escanaba and Laura at home; ten grandchildren and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Aldina Beauchamp, Escanaba; Mrs. Dina Bougie, Escanaba; Edmond Deforge, Duluth; Julius Deforge, Iron Mountain, and Mrs. Asias Laurin, Viner, Ontario, Canada. Mr. Parent passed away two years ago.

Over $1000 Loss At Terrace Hall

More than a thousand dollars in damage was caused when fire broke out in the Terrace Gardens dance hall late Wednesday night. The loss is covered by insurance.

Quick work by the firemen prevented much greater destruction. The blaze is believed to have been caused by a short circuit in electric wiring attached to the furnace. The wall between the living quarters and the ballroom was burned, and considerable damage was done also to a gable on the home and to the roof of the building.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGovern, owners of the Terrace Gardens ballroom, said yesterday that the fire has caused postponement of this week's dances. The Monday dance will be held, however.

The fire department was called out at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning to extinguish a small roof fire at the Puissant plumbing shop, Ludington street.

Communication

DANCE QUESTION

Feb. 3, 1934.

Editor, Daily Press:

I would like to voice my opinion on Rev. Dr. C. Albert Lund's communication published January 28, 1934. The caption opposing Birthday Ball may be misleading to some readers of the Daily Press. I know that Pastor Lund does not approve of, or give his endorsement to dance halls, beer gardens, movies, poolrooms, etc.

I am not trying to defend the dance hall, but I am trying to defend some people who go to dances. Regardless of any worthwhile enterprise that was or will be promoted it is subject to some abuse more or less. Some people attend dances because it is to them good, clean recreation; therefore the dance is not a curse to them.

I have the greatest respect for Pastor Lund. I thought his communication very good, but the third paragraph except for the first sentence, however, conflicts with my opinion. That, I suppose is all only natural, as all human beings cannot have the same opinions. I believe our President is a God-fearing man. I don't believe he is trying to hide behind the church in promoting this worthwhile endeavor, and I feel that this inference was made by one or more of his associates.

I do not expect Pastor Lund to agree with my views. I believe the ethics of his profession will prevent him from expressing himself further publicly. The depression to some extent, has interferred with my chosen profession therefore I am discarding the ethics of that profession for the time being.

I was baptized, received instructions and was confirmed in the Bethany Lutheran church of your city and these to me are the most important events in my life.

4 Alleged Liquor Law Violators To Be Heard Today

Casimir Milkievicz, 322 Stephenson avenue, and Mrs. Margaret Brassard, 1624 Third avenue north, were arrested by police yesterday on a charge of violating the state liquor laws. Their bartenders, Joseph Warne and John Shukrasky, were arrested Wednesday when police raided the establishments.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace H. E. Ranguette, the four demanded preliminary examinations which were set for this morning. Bail was set at $500 each.

James Rickard of Platteville, Wis., preparing to make a left turn, stuck out his hand. A speeding machine approaching from the rear struck his arm and broke it.

MEDICAL ADVICE

If you want to

. . . relieve constipation gently and safely
. . . take the exact dose suited to your need
. . . avoid danger of bowel strain
—use a liquid laxative

NRA WE DO OUR PART U.S.

Can constipation be safely relieved? "Yes!" say medical men. "Yes!" declare thousands who have followed their advice and know.

You are not apt to cure your constipation with salts, pills and tablets, or any habit-forming cathartic. But you can safely relieve this condition just by gentle regulation with a suitable liquid laxative.

Why Hospitals use a liquid laxative

The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can thus be regulated to suit your individual need. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will it irritate the kidneys.

The right liquid laxative will bring a perfect movement, with no discomfort at the time, or afterward.

The unwise use of strong cathartics may often do more harm than good.

In buying any laxative, read the label. If it contains a doubtful drug, don't take it. If you don't know what is in it, don't chance it. The contents of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is stated plainly on the label; fresh herbs, pure pepsin, active senna.

Its very taste tells you Syrup Pepsin is wholesome. A delightful taste, and delightful action. Safe for expectant mothers, and children. Drug stores have it, ready for use, in big bottles.

THE TEST:

This test has proved to many men and women that their trouble was not "weak bowels," but strong cathartics!

First: select a properly prepared liquid laxative. Second: take the dose you find suited to your system. Third: gradually reduce the dose until bowels are moving of their own accord

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has the highest standing among liquid laxatives, and is the one generally used.

HOG REDUCTION PLANNED HERE

Farmers Urged to Get In Touch With Their County Agent

Delta county farmers may avail themselves of the opportunity of participating in the hog reduction program by communicating with Joseph E. Turner, county agricultural agent.

Regardless of the size of their past hog production average, all hog producers now may qualify for hog reduction payments by reducing their hog litter average and production of hogs for market not less than 25 per cent, according to a new ruling on the 1934-35 corn-hog reduction contract.

In cases where the litter average is less than four, this will mean that the contracting producer will reduce by one litter even though this will constitute more than a 25 per cent reduction from the litter base. In cases where the contracting producer's corn acreage average is less than the minimum requirements of ten acres, he will reduce hog production only and will receive hog production payments, but must agree not to increase his corn acreage over his average and he is not eligible to receive corn reduction payments.

A previous ruling specified that if the 1932-33 litter average was less than three, the party signing the contract was not required to reduce hog production in 1934, and in any event was not eligible to receive any hog reduction payment under the contract.

The change in ruling was made in consideration of an unexpected interest in the program among farmers producing an average of less than three litters of pigs per year, and to give these farmers an opportunity to share in the proceeds of the processing tax which is to be collected on the slaughtering of all hogs for market, regardless of by whom sold.

At the same time, announcement was made of a new regulation exempting farmers from payment of the processing tax on hogs to the extent to which they sell or exchange (per marketing year) 300 pounds of hog products derived from hogs of their own raising which they have butchered, providing that the total volume of hog products so sold or exchanged does not exceed 1,000 pounds per marketing year. When the volume of hog products so sold or exchanged exceeds 1,000 pounds, the producer loses his exemption.

thought he'd been delayed. It seems he was alone on the River road. The rains had washed away some of the shoulder. He must have been turning out to avoid someone. You know Daddy never did like driving at night," she interpolated pathetically. "They say it happened at 10:30. The car clock stopped then. And they didn't find him the policeman didn't until he made his rounds at quarter past 1. They brought him home." Her eyes began to fill again and she shook her head, unable to go on.

Gypsy's eyes sought the doctor's. "Concussion," he said briefly. "He hasn't regained consciousness."

"If I might see you for a moment, doctor?" The nurse was in the doorway and Gypsy hated her, her self-possession, her almost smiling calm, her assurance. If Daddy were going to die . . . If Daddy were doing to die . . .

Mrs. Morell started up. "He's not to be left alone," she said fiercely. "I told her particularly he was not to be left alone." She went back to the sickroom and after an instant the crackling figure of the nurse followed, leaving Gypsy free to confer with the physician.

"You can tell me the truth," she begged.

"It's very grave. It may be" he hesitated on the words. "It may be a matter of hours. That's why I suggested you should come."

"But can't we do something get somebody? Specialists anything?"

"I've already phoned Martineau Dr. Henle Martineau at Newark," he told her. "He's a brain man. He'll be here presently. If he lasts until morning."

Gypsy paled at the words. How cold and unfeeling all those people were! Why, they couldn't let Daddy die like this. It wasn't fair. He had watched over them all, protected them, and now they were letting him slip away without trying to keep him.

"You've got to get him," she said fiercely. "Tom could go and bring him."

"My dear child, everything will be done. Rest assured of that. But we can't perform miracles."

Tom put an arm around her to steady her. Below stairs they could hear Clytie murmuring to the child who had wakened now. Otherwise the house was deadly still.

"I'm frightened," Gypsy whimpered when she and Tom were alone again in the hall. "I'm frightened. Tell me what to do, Tommy!"

It was like being a child again, alone in the dark, desperately afraid.

She went back into the room where the sick man lay, motionless, in the shaded light. At least she could be near could be on hand if he (blessed and unbelievable miracle!) were to open his tired eyes.

White Meat Only Is Owner's Claim For Chicken Farm

Omaha, Neb. (AP)—Speaking of fancy farming, consider the chicken farm managed by two men near here.

Thomas Watt and Homer Kulb, who shepherd the chicks, say their novel diet, luxurious surrounding and enforced idleness result in broilers with white meat only.

Their system, they say, eliminates dark meat, although the chickens are members of old, established two-tone families.

In their "model" chicken houses are 64 heated apartments, electric lights, a hot water heating system. Its interior is kept spotless.

In these apartments are placed baby chicks, and here they remain for eight or nine weeks until ready for market.

They live on food containing cod liver oil, bran, shorts, corn, oats, phosphorous and lime. They get more vitamins, their owners assert, than a lot of children.

In the baby chicks' apartments a temperature of 90 degrees is maintained; below the big chicks are kept comfortable at 70, and the general plant temperature ranges from 65 to 70.

Watts, to make sure these temperatures are kept even throughout the night, sleeps in the place.

ANTI-RADICAL GROUP FORMED

Protective League Will Combat Communism in Michigan

Incorporation of the Michigan Protective League, which is an organization sponsored by the Michigan state police for combatting radicalism and communistic violence in the state, is being rapidly effected.

Harold Mulbar, of the detective division of the trooper force, is in charge of the organization work of the league which he originated. It is a non-profit organization and will be incorporated as such. Necessary papers are being prepared and a representative membership in the counties of the state already recorded.

The league, primarily, is to be neither a state police nor local police wing but is patterned closer on the patriotic principles of the league organized and fostered by the United States department of justice during the World war. Through its membership, a close watch will be kept on communistic developments in the state and the radical element of every community will be under the watchful eye of some patriotic member who thinks the white and blue should continue to share with the red in the colors of the flag of our country.

Records of the Michigan state police show a steady and dangerous spread of radicalism and communistic teaching and demonstration in Michigan. The whispering campaign of the reds toward certain banks in the state continues just as it did a year ago when such efforts were found by Capt. I. A. Marmon of the state police to be directly responsible for runs on Pontiac institutions.

One of the alarming parts of this radical growth, in the the opinion of Detective Mulbar is the fostering of these unpatriotic and dangerous teachings among the youth of the state.

State police served as witnesses in a recent upper peninsula case in which the proof of this sponsorship of radicalism among the young was furnished. In a raid on an alleged communistic camp by troopers and other officers at Eben last August, a red flag was seized as evidence and witnesses say that children in the camp sang "Internationale" while the flag was being dragged down by the uniformed raiders.

In the recent trial in which the troopers testified, Unto Immonen and Erick Burman, arrested in the raid, were sentenced to terms in the Marquette branch of the Michigan state prison after being found guilty of displaying a red flag and teaching anarchy to children.

Immonen was sentenced to from two to eight years, with a recommendation of four years. Burman was sentenced to the same term, with a recommendation of six years. Immonen was instructor at the Eben camp.

WHEAT FEED COMING SOON

Farmers Will Have to Work Two Hours for Each Bushel

Three or four carloads of wheat for Delta county's hungry cattle are expected to arrive within the next ten days, Joseph E. Turner, county agricultural agent, stated yesterday. It will be shipped from the government's surplus wheat stocks.

Michigan was allotted 148 cars of wheat, 76 cars of which will come to the upper peninsula. County Agent Turner recently received 430 replies from farmers to whom he had sent questionnaires to determine whether they were interested in the proposition.

Farmers will be asked to work two hours on some road project in payment of each bushel of wheat received. The work will be in addition to the quota of hours on CWA projects. The plan makes feed available to farmers who have exhausted their credit at local feed stores.

The wheat will come unground and loose in the cars. The farmers will have to arrange for whatever grinding they wish done.

Only farmers whose cattle would starve without the wheat are entitled to the grain.

BUILD UP SOIL, EXPERT URGES

Clanahan Gives Advice on Fertilizers to Delta Farmers

Good earth—its chemical composition, its inevitable depletion through constant use so that yields annually decrease, and the methods through which it can be maintained fruitful, was the subject of an address delivered by D. L. Clanahan, crops specialist, at meetings of farmers at Ogontz and Chandler school yesterday.

Mr. Clanahan will speak at the Alec Williamson farm in Osier 2 o'clock this afternoon and at Rock at 8 o'clock this evening.

Demonstrates Equipment

In addition to his address on the subject of soils, Mr. Clanahan demonstrated the use of new equipment to test the chemical content of the soils. With the new equipment farmers may easily and quickly determine what plant foods are lacking so as to accurately supply them in the application of the proper types of fertilizers.

The new system is said to be fool proof, and gives unerringly the presence and the amount of nitrogen, phosphorus, potash and lime in the soils. Five of the sets will be placed in the Upper Peninsula, Mr. Clanahan said.

Where formerly it required two hours of work with costly laboratory equipment, the analysis can be made by anyone in ten minutes with the new equipment, he said.

"Soils," Mr. Clanahan declared, "should continue to produce well, providing they are properly taken care of. Remember that the soil is at the root of all our farming operations, and it behooves each one of us to see that the soil is properly maintained. If possible we should strive to increase the soil fertility to a degree where we are getting even better crops than we did when the soil was first broken up."

He listed five essential elements necessary to high production. In the order of their importance he listed: moisture, sweet soil, organic matter, tillage and plant food. He placed light as more important than any of these, but "this is not controlled by man."

"Plant growth," he went on, "depends first of all upon soil moisture which to a large extent can be controlled by man by drainage, supply of organic matter, tillage and irrigation. It is known that wet soils do not produce well. Likewise there are periods during the growing season when an additional amount of water benefits the plants. Some plants are deeper rooted than others and therefore will do better on dry soil than other plants, Alfalfa, for instance, has a deep tap root and will produce good crops where the average plant would not do so well."

Most Need Lime

In discussing sweet soils, Mr. Clanahan declared that a large proportion of the soils of the Upper Peninsula, and especially Chippewa county require more lime in order to do their best.

"The Upper Peninsula has carried the name of Cloverland. We realize all too well that many areas will not product clover due to acid soils, consequently the acreage now in clover on the average farm is very small."

He said one of the major operations in handling the soil for high production is the introduction of organic matter. "When soils are first broken up," the soils specialist said, "they contain large amount of organic matter. However, we find that after these soils have been worked for a period of 60 to 75 years they contain a much smaller amount. This material is added to the soil by the roots and stubbles of plant that are plowed under, by the addition of barnyard manure and through green manuring crops. Organic matter retards erosion by wind and water."

In discussing plant foods he said organic matter in the soil furnishes and holds nitrogen, one of the more expensive plant food elements. He said 98 per cent of the nitrogen in the soil is stored in organic matter.

The Important Foods

He listed phosphorus, nitrogen and potash, as the most important of plant foods.

"Every time a crop is taken off the land," Mr. Clanahan explained, "a certain amount of these various foods is removed from the soil and although we have large proportions of this material in the land, it is easy to see that by taking off even a small amount each year, we are taking away much of the plant food as the years pass. Some farmers think that when they apply barnyard manure they are putting back into the land plenty of plant food. However, we know that only about half of the plant food that was taken out is returned in this manner."

He warned that the soil is a living substance, and "we cannot change it in a short period of time."

City Council Will Consider Liquor Licenses Tonight

The Escanaba city council will hold a special meeting this evening to consider applications for licenses to sell liquor by the glass.

Formal application blanks for Class C restaurants and other types of licenses have been received and can now be procured at the city clerk's office or at the branch office of the Michigan liquor control commission.

Church Events

Christian Science Churches

"Spirit" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, Feb. 11.

Among the Bible citations in this passage (Num. 6: 24-26): "The Lord bless thee, and keep thee: the Lord make his face shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee: the Lord lift up his countenance upon thee, and give thee peace."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 264): "Spiritual living and blessedness are the only evidences, by which we can recognize true existence and feel the unspeakable peace which comes from an all-absorbing spiritual love. When we learn the way in Christian Science and recognize man's spiritual being, we shall behold and understand God's creation—all the glories of earth and heaven and man."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C.M.Co.

R. R. MAY NOT PUT IN SIGNAL

Official Says Demand Unwarranted; Formal Reply Awaited

No official reply has as yet been received by the city from the Soo Line railway regarding a request that a wig-wag signal be erected at the railway crossing on Highway M-35 in the Buckeye Addition. The request was made following adoption of a resolution by the city commission several weeks ago revelant to the matter.

In connection with the matter, however, C. E. Wilson, Minneapolis division superintendent, was in Gladstone last week and conferred with City Manager F. R. Buechner. Wilson at that time stated that the crossing was not considered dangerous as the company has no record or report of accidents or near-accidents and that in view of business conditions on the Gladstone division the outlay of $2,500, the approximate cost of installation of the signal requested, was hardly warranted, at the present time.

A light was recently installed over the crossing by the City of Gladstone and this lights the crossing well at night and allows motorists to see plainly any trains which might be in process of crossing. It does not provide, it is pointed out, any warning of approaching trains and it has been from this source that the real danger has arisen in the past and the main reason why the commission requested installation of a signal system.

Wide Range Sound Introduced at Rialto Last Night

Wide Range, the latest contribution of the Western Electric Sound System, marks the peak of achievement toward the development of perfect sound recording and reproducing in talking pictures.

It was installed this week at the Rialto theatre and was introduced for the first time last night. Tests following the installation were completed yesterday by engineers of the company which has developed it.

Wide Range is a newly developed quality of sound that gives a clarity and naturalness hitherto unattained i npictures. It marks the latest accomplishment in a series of developments that began with the introduction of talking pictures in 1926.

While millions of motion picture followers were acclaiming the new art of the screen, scientists and engineers were engaged in the Bell Telephone laboratories to perfect talking picture sound. The first fruit of their labors became apparent with the introduction of noiseless recording in 1930 which eliminated surface noises.

DEATH BECKONS AGED RESIDENT

Joseph Weingartner, 74, Early City Pioneer, Dies Yesterday

Joseph Weingartner, 74, one of the early pioneers of this city, was summoned by death yesterday morning at five o'clock at the family residence, 242 North Cedar street. Death was due to complications brought on by old age. Mr. Weingartner had been in ill health for the past four years and had suffered two strokes.

The deceased was born in Siegenburg, Germany, on November 19, 1859, coming to this country direct to Manistique in 1887. One of his first positions was with the Chicago Lumber company as the first engineer on the water wheel which operated the sawmill.

Shortly thereafter he accepted a post with the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie railroad with which he was identified until he retired from active duty four years ago. His employment necessitated his moving to Gladstone and to Rhinelander, Wis., living two years in the former city and five years at Rhinelander. He made Manistique his place of residence for nearly 40 years.

Mr. Weingartner was united in marriage on August 22, 1883 to Miss Walburga Hagl, of Siegenburg, Germany, the young couple immigrating to this country four years later. A year ago last August, Mr. and Mrs. Weingartner observed their golden wedding anniversary by repeating the marriage vows at St. Francis de Sales church. It was followed by a wedding dinner at the Weingartner residence at which 75 relatives and close friends of the family were in attendance.

Fourteen children were born of the union, eight of whom are living. They are Mrs. John Schustarich, Joseph Weingartner, Jr., Mrs. Barbara Johnson and Louis Weingartner, all of Gladstone, Mrs. Francis Blabaum, of Rhinelander, Wis.; George Weingartner, of Rock, Mich.; Anthony, of Albany, New York, and Lawrence, of Saco, Montana. Besides the widow, 26 grandchildren and two great grandchildren also survive.

All of the sons and daughters will attend the funeral which has been tentatively set for Monday morning at St. Francis de Sales church with Rev. R. J. P. Scheyers officiating. Interment will be made in the family plot at Gladstone.

A fine program will be presented and refreshments will be served. A good attendance is anticipated as each member is privileged to invite guests.

Postpone Meeting—The regular meeting of the Mission Circle of the Swedish Baptist church which should be held Feb. 15, has been postponed until Thursday Feb. 22.

John Leaf Rites To Be Held Today

Last sad rites for John Erick Leaf, one of the early pioneers of this city who passed away Tuesday evening at his home, 422 North Houghton, will be held this afternoon when a short prayer service will be conducted from the family residence at two o'clock followed by service at the Swedish Baptist church at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. F. Elmgren will officiate. Interment will be in Lakeview cemetery.

John Nelson, Ephraim Brolin, Emil Johnson, and John A. Falk, will serve as pallbearers.

The deceased was born December 13, 1845, in Svanvad county, City of Orebro, Sweden. He was converted in Sweden in 1873. He came to Cadillac, Mich., in 1881, and was baptized there in 1883. A year later Mr. Leaf came to Manistique and has been a charter member of the local Swedish Baptist church for the past 49 years.

While at Cadillac, in 1884, he was united in marriage to Miss Anna Visen who survives. Other survivors are two children, Mrs. Joshua Oberg, and Herman, both of this city; and four grand children, Carl, Robert, Evelyn, and Gordon Oberg.

John A. Falk Honored On Seventieth Birthday

More than 40 friends and relatives staged a fitting celebration Tuesday evening at the John A. Falk residence, Deer street, to do honor and pay homage to one of the city's illustrious citizens, one who played a large part in shaping the course of Manistique and who was active in making its early history. The occasion was Mr. Falk's seventieth birthday anniversary.

Perhaps no resident of this community, whose path led him to play such conspicuous roles, can number so many true friends as this soft-spoken, mild-mannered man whose every act was thoughtfully made with the true Christian spirit always at heart.

Tuesday's program, a rather elaborate affair, was truly a surprise to Mr. Falk who as has been customary with him for the past several years, had retired early for the evening. Rev. F. Elmgren, pastor of the Swedish Baptist church, opened the program with an appropriate scripture reading and then in behalf of the assembled friends, presented Mr. Falk with a beautiful pen and pencil set as a remembrance gift. Mr. Falk was also the recipient of a beautiful plant. John Ekdahl then read a delightful poem which he had written especially for the occasion.

Friends Extoll Him

D. J. Ward, a boyhood friend of Mr. Falk, then delivered a short talk reminiscing over their experiences during their early days here. Both Mr. Ward and Mr. Falk were employed simultaneously by the same railroad in Pennsylvania but did not meet until coming to Manistique 45 years ago.

Sven Johnson next told of his relations with Mr. Falk from a business viewpoint, recounting their experiences when both were employed here by the Chicago Lumber company.

This was followed by a talk by Eli Voisine who talked on the angle of neighborliness, Mr. Voisine being a neighbor of Mr. Falk for many years. Ed Backwell and Alf Johnson, brother-in-law and nephew respectively, gave short speeches relating to their family contacts with Mr. Falk. Gottfrid Carlstrom testified to the harmonious relations he had with Mr. Falk during his twenty years of apprenticeship to him, saying that during all that time he had not known Mr. Falk to speak an unfriendly word toward him. A talk by Mrs. Matt Winberg and a beautiful poem composed and read by Mrs. Gust Soltergreen completed the program. Response to the addresses were graciously made by Mr. Falk. Delicious refreshments were served at the close.

The story of Mr. Falk's life to date, is that of the poor immigrant boy, who by hard work, industry, and thrift, made for himself a more than comfortable living in this country blessed with friendship and the honor of all those who came into contact with him. The Swedish-American Tribune News carried a lengthy article of Mr. Falk written in Swedish, accompanied by his photograph. Translated, it is substantially as follows:

Limited Library

Mr. Falk was born on February 6, 1864, on a farm in Backen,

30 Below Recorded In City Yesterday

Manistique shivered in the coldest snap of the winter yesterday morning as mercury readings registered all the way from 19 below zero to 30 below.

Although it was the coldest weather experienced here in several years, appearances belied the actual temperature because of the stillness of the air, many early work-goers being nipped by the frost because of failure to "cover up" properly.

Several thermometers on the west side showed the mercury down to 30 below while on Lakeside recordings indicated 27 below at 8:30 a. m. The official thermometer at the road commission office dropped to only 19 below.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—Markets strengthened today after they had absorbed a carry-over of yesterday's selling. Stocks rallied vigorously in the last hour and although there were some declines left at the close the net change for the averages was half a point gain.

Shares went through a couple of selling flurries before deciding to turn about; at the worst leaders were off fractions to a couple of points or so, but on each reaction volume had a marked tendency to lessen and the late rally was one of the day's most active periods. Transactions amounted to 3,217,550 shares.

Cotton finished with a flourish of strength and wheat more than got back its forenoon setback. Speculative bonds recovered with stocks. Foreign exchange dealings saw French francs and sterling higher, the latter being quoted above $5.

When the market reversed itself, several stocks appeared to be enjoying strong sponsorship. U. S. Smelting soared half a dozen points and closed near the high. American Can was another favorite, up more than 2, while Allied Chemical gained 3½. Union Pacific, whose directors voted a regular dividend of $1.50, was up as much. American Smelting, Du Pont, Howe Sound, Montgomery Ward and U. S. Pipe were other leaders. Sugars came forward in advance of the president's message which advocated that the staple be made a basic commodity and opposed placing it on the free list. U. S. Steel, General Motors, Sears Roebuck and New York Central improved moderately. Utilities lagged a bit.

New York, Feb. 8 (AP) Bonds followed stocks in a late rally today and at the close many of the more volatile secondary issues had recovered some of their previous session's rather severe losses.

The belated recovery came after the list had recorded further declines of 1 to 3 or more points. Trading was not so active during most of the proceedings, transfers totalling $19,291,000, par value, against $20,988,000 Wednesday. The average for 60 domestic corporate loans, however, advanced three-tenths of a point.

The come-back in corporation loans was led by the rails. Most of the carrier favorites held advances of a point or more, although a few were still under water at the finish. Among the so-called prime bonds which were steady to firm were some of Santa Fe, Chesapeake and Ohio, Pennsylvania and Union Pacific.

The star performer of the utilities was the 5 percent issue of American Waterworks which matures April 1, next. This loan retained a net gain of 6½ points following announcement that the proposed new refunding loan would have a stock conversion privilege. Other utilities that improved moderately included some bonds of American and Foreign Power, American Telephone, Columbia Gas, International Hydro-Electric, International Telephone, Laclede Gas, Postal Telegraph and Utilities Power and Light.

Among the industrials, up 1 to 2, were issues of American Rolling Mill, Cuban Cane Products, Hudson Coal, Midvale Steel, National Dairy, Philadelphia Reading Coal and Iron, United Drug, U. S. Rubber and Warner Bros.

The majority of U. S. government securities were up 1 32nd to 1 to 32nds of a point, but the turnover here amounted to only about $1,000,000.

MAY SELL LIQUOR

Detroit, Feb. 7 (AP) One thousand cases of imported liquors, wines and champagnes impounded by the state in the G. Viviano, Inc., warehouses, still were held Wednesday, but William J. Nagel, managing director for the state liquor commission, said the Viviano company would be permitted to dispose of the merchandise under the terms of the liquor control act. Nagel said the company may either ship the liquors out of state or sell it at wholesale under state supervision here.

Forenoon Losses Cancelled; Close On Curb Higher

BY BERNARD S. O'HARA
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Feb. 8 (AP)—The curb market closed higher today after staging a sharp rally in the late dealings. Forenoon losses of fractions to more than a point were cancelled and many shares converted declines into equivalent gains.

Utilities, oils and alcohols shared well in the recovery. Hiram Walker erased a 2-point dip. Electric Bond and Share after easing under 20 for more than a point loss finished a major fraction higher. A number of specialties recorded fairly wide gains, among them Interstate Hosiery Mills, Tubize Chatillon and Safety Car Heating.

United Light & Power convertible preferred rose more than 2. American Gas & Electric, Glen Alden Coal, Bunker Hill & Sullivan, Canadian Industrial Alcoohl A and Gulf Oil closed a point higher each.

Transfers approximated 492,000 shares compared with 657,000 for Wednesday.

Dempsey Charged With Violations In Oil Production

Tylere Tex., Feb. 7 (AP) The federal government's drive against overproduction of oil from the rich East Texas field reached out today to include Jack Dempsey and his partner, Bobby Manziel, former pugilist.

The former heavyweight boxing champion was charged with over production. Manziel was termed "one of the most chronic violators in the field" and a receiver was appointed for their well.

The usual federal court penalty upon conviction for overproduction is a $500 fine or six months in jail, or both.

Charles I. Francis, assistant United States attorney general, filed complaints charging Dempsey with overproduction of oil since Dec. 1 and with operating bypasses. He asked a temporary and a permanent injunction and prohibition of interference with federal agents. He did not list specific instances of abnormal production.

Although they have surrendered pe of gaining the Northern Nine nference title this year, the Eskyos are making a strong bid for cond place. A victory over Iron ountain tonight would help that l along nicely and the Eskymos e very determined to go after it. At the Soo game, the Eskymos owed a decided improvement er previous performances this ason and Coach Nordberg beves his squad has reached the k of the season. This week the kymos were given only light ks to prevent the squad from ing stale at a time when the portant tournaments are just a onth away.

Always Prove Tough

The Mountaineers, considered the kymos' most dangerous foe in e district tournament which will held here next month, lost three teran players at the end of the st semester but as the losses e not unexpected, it is believed re that the holes have been plug d with a minimum loss of potend strength.

For Escanaba, Iron Mountain has ways proved a tough foe and the kymos figure they will find the ountaineers no exception tonight. view of the loss of the three n Mountain stalwarts, critics are ding it difficult to compare the o teams. Any edge in the battle, owever, is conceded to the Eskyos, mainly because of their imroved showing at the Soo in their st time out.

Coach Nordberg expects to start ristiansen and Johnson at forards; Frederickson at center; nsen and Beaudin, guards. This mbination has been working moothly and seems to be the best atent of any of the various comrations used by Coach Nordberg is season. Individually, there is star but the boys have been icking excellently in team play. uch, after all, is the important ing in basketball.

Frank Judish of Stambaugh will ndle the whistle.

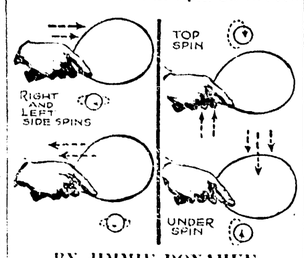
Tips on Table Tennis

Here's How to Put Spin on Serves



BY JIMMIE DONAHUE
NEA Service Sports Writer

The player serving in table tennis generally has an edge on his opponent, because the serve offers a chance to control the antics of the ball.

In serving, the ball must first strike on the server's side of the net, bounce across the mesh and land on the other side before being complete. A ball bouncing over the net and missing the opponent's side of the table is an incomplete serve and is scored against the server.

The first step in serving after the beginner has succeeded in bouncing the ball over the net in an ordinary serve is to put "english" or spin on it. There are four types of this spin service top spin, under spin, and left and right side spin.

For top spin, the ball is hit by bringing the paddle up at the ball, causing it to turn from the bottom up and hit the other side of the table with a deceiving roll. Underspin is attained by hitting down at the ball. This will give you the same action as underspin in golf: the ball hits the other side and the english slows it down.

Side spin is obtained by stroking the paddle across the ball to either side.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Last Roundup" and "Dark Hazard" will be shown today and tomorrow in a double feature program at the Delft Theatre.

One of America's most popular radio songs, "The Last Round-Up," can be heard on the screen for the first time in Paramount's picture "The Last Round-Up."

An adaptation of Zane Grey's novel, "The Border Legion," the film features Randolph Scott, Barbara Fritchie, Monte Blue, Fred Kohler and Fuzzy Knight. They all do their bit in vocalizing the cowboy lament for the picture.

"Dark Hazard," which is based on the novel of W. R. Burnett, author of "Little Caesar," in which Robinson gained his first screen fame, deals with a man whose passion for rambling is so strong that he gives up love and home and practically everything in life considered worth while because of it.

The title of the picture is taken from the name of a racing greyhound, "Dark Hazard" owned by Robinson in the story. Thrilling dog races were filmed at a popular California track near Los Angeles.

The dog, "Dark Hazard," in the title role has an important part in the picture, not only as a racing dog, but as the bone of contention between Robinson and his wife, Genevieve Tobin is Robinson's leading lady, playing the part of a disillusioned gambler's wife. Glenda Farrell is the other woman in a triangular love affair while others in the cast include Robert Barrat, Gordon WestCott, Hobart Cavanaugh, George Meeker and Henry B. Walthall.

At the Coliseum

The regular weekly dance will be held at the Coliseum tonight, following the Escanaba-Iron Mountain game. Rug and his band will furnish the music.

At the Argonne

A special pre-Lenten dance, sponsored by the Escanaba Legion drum and bugle corps, will be staged at the Argonne Gardens Saturday night. The eight piece Wolverine orchestra will play.

COLLEGE RULES GROUP GATHERS

Coaches Offer Several Revisions for Grid Game at Atlanta

BY DILLON GRAHAM
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Atlanta, Feb. 8 (AP)—The architects of football, men who design the code covering the college game, assemble tomorrow to decide whether the rules shall be altered for next fall's campaign.

The annual meeting of the intercollegiate football rules committee opens at the Atlanta Athletic club Friday night and likely will continue on into Sunday. The conferences also will be attended by four members of the coaches' advisory group and an equal number representing the officials.

Six or eight of the early arrivals, including Walter Okeson of Lehigh, the rules committee chairman, came today and spent the afternoon golfing.

No Radical Changes

The consensus was that certainly no radical changes would be made in the rules for 1934. More than 50 suggestions or recommendations are to be considered, Okeson said, but most of these represent the ideas of only a small group and few will receive the support of the entire rules committee.

Okeson had no comment on a statement made by the committee secretary, William S. Langford, that in increase in the side line zone from 10 to 15 yards was the most probable change to be made in the rules.

The chairman said that although Langford also had expressed himself in favor of eliminating the touch back penalty on passes grounded in the end zone and of the suggestion that neither side be allowed to run with a recovered blocked kick, that other members of the committee might be opposed to these moves.

The committee also will consider seven proposals offered by a group of coaches headed by Harry Kipke of Michigan at the Chicago convention last December and will give thought to the request of a special coaches' committee in New York last week that eight rules "need clarification and amplication."

Announcements Sunday

Those eight are: 1, the blocked kick; 2, eligible men on forward passes; 3, equipment; 4, notifications on time out; 5, duties of field judge on dead ball; 6, protection of passers; 7, positions of officials on all plays; 8, penalty on successive forward passes.

Return of the goal posts to the goal line, modification of the "Dead ball" rule and permission of forward passes from any point back of the scrimmage line will be considered.

Okeson said he "had no idea" which if any of the suggestions would meet with the approval of the committee and would venture no forecast.

Once the committee starts its closed sessions no announcements of its activities will be made public until after the final conference, probably Sunday.

Attending the meeting will be Okeson, Langford, H. J. Stegeman, Bill Bingham, Bill Crowell, F. H. Yost, Dana Bible, Ray Morrison, C. H. Smith, Bill Hunter and A. A. Stagg of the rules committee, W. A. Alexander, Lou Little, Babe Hollingsberry, and Noble Kizer of the coaches' advisory committee and A. R. Hutchens, A. M. Palmer, Herb Dana and H. B. Hackett, representing the officials.

MAJOR WILL SPEAK

Iron Mountain: Major Norman Allan Imrie, instructor in history at the Culver Military academy, Culver, Ind., and noted lecturer, toastmaster and after dinner speaker, will appear on the program at the Dickinson county teachers' institute to be held Tuesday, February 13, in the auditorium of the Iron Mountain high school.

The meeting will open at 9:15 a. m., with music by the Iron Mountain high school orchestra under the direction of Arthur M. Reppe. Major Imrie will be the first speaker, discussing "What America Needs." There will be another selection by the orchestra and, as the last event on the morning program, an address by Dr. M. C. Kruger.

Keilmen Meet 'Stique Quintet at Gladstone

Gladstone—After a layoff for semester exams, Gladstone high school cagers will get back in action tonight when they face Manistique on the local court. It will be the second meeting of the two teams this season, the Keilmen taking a 37-28 decision in the first battle.

Two preliminaries have been arranged. In the first, which starts at 6:15 p. m., the Reserves will face the Nahma high school five. The other will be between the Marble Arms quint and the Hornets, one of the leading teams in the Escanaba amateur league. This game is scheduled to get under way at 7:15 and the main battle an hour later.

The squad as a whole is coming along well after the short layoff and look good in practice. However, the local mentor is expecting a hard battle and this will probably result as Manistique always put up a real game against the Keilmen. This was shown in the earlier game when the Schoolcrafters scored 28 points, almost twice as many as they have scored on any other opponent this season.

The probable starting lineup as announced yesterday by Coach Keil was Lindberg, center; Weingartner and Freeman, forwards; Kircher and McIntyre, guards.

There is still a question though whether Weingartner will begin the game, or, if he does, how long he will be able to stay in. Frenchy sprained an ankle Monday evening in practice and although he has returned to the squad the injured member is still weak. In case Weingartner's injury is not fully healed, Peterson or Jadin will get into action.

Schwei of Quinnesec will referee the main battle, while the preliminaries are scheduled to be handled by Wesley Gustafson and Floyd Geraldeau.

TAX ON BANK CHECKS OFF; POSTAGE CUT

governmental workings set the administration today to mixing up an eradicator for the contract lobbyist.

Among the first indications of such activity was the announcement that Secretary Morgenthau would confer soon with a New York attorney in an effort to weed out any undesirables and raise the standards for lawyers practicing before the treasury.

There was no intimation that this activity would be confined to the treasury. The complaints of favor seeking, graft and fee grabbing have spread to several other departments, the most recent and highly seasoned being the charges now before a grand jury involving war department motor contracts.

Prominent persons, as yet unnamed by officials, and millions of dollars of contracts are involved there.

"No Air Service"

The other investigations are digging into civil and public works employment, army and navy plane building contracts, air and ocean mail carrying agreements, and a wide variety of other activities.

The army plans building inquiry today brought from William Mitchell, the army air chief of World War days who resigned under court martial sentence as a result of his outspoken criticism of the service, the frank observation that: "We have no air service."

The report drawn up by the postoffice department on the status of pending mail carrying contracts was taken to President Roosevelt today by Postmaster General Farley. Early action toward cancelling or changing some of the contracts that were found ill advised was promised.

Numerous irregularities about the letting of the contracts have been charged before the senate airmail investigating committee which now has four men cited to appear before the senate tomorrow to show why they should not be held in contempt for withholding or aiding in the destruction of records sought by the committee.

Sugar Quotas Asked

Two new investigations were proposed today. A senate committee approved a bill calling for a study of power rates. Senator Nye (R-ND) sought a study of corporations that deal in munitions.

Other developments:

The ways and means committee neared the end of its preparation of the new tax bill, proposing elimination of the bank check tax.

Senator Fletcher (D-Fla) promised to introduce stock and commodity exchange regulation measures, probably tomorrow.

The bankhead brothers of Alabama, senator and representative, said President Roosevelt favored their compulsory cotton control bill.

The senate approved a limited disability plan for civil works employes who are injured in the employ of the government.

President Roosevelt approved a plan for improving the status of sugar, calling for quota allotments to the producing sections, a tariff reduction and making sugar growers eligible to benefits similar to those paid cotton and wheat farmers.

Senator Robinson said legislation would be offered with administration approval to restore to the rolls of the veterans bureau all veterans whose injuries were presumed to have been received from war service.

The senate passed the administration's $950,000,000 civil works and relief measure, holding off attempts to raise the civil works fund to two billion dollars.

RUSSIAN ENVOY LEAVES FEB. 15

Diplomatic and Trade Agreement Made After 15 Years

BY LLOYD A. LEHRBAS
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—Negotiations between the United States and Soviet Russia to build a diplomatic and commercial bridge over a chasm of 15 years have made such rapid progress that William C. Bullitt, American ambassador to Moscow, will sail from New York Feb. 15 to carry out his new duties.

Bullitt made a quick trip to present his credentials to President Mihkail Kalinin immediately after his appointment, but has been in Washington for more than a month organizing his staff and arranging innumerable details for the smooth working of the machinery necessary for normal relations between the two nations.

Debts Settled

In rapid sequence since recognition was accorded, these developments have taken place:

Ambassador Alexander Troyanovsky and several members of his staff have arrived and are functioning in Washington.

An export bank and trading corporation to expand American business in Russia, through granting of credit to American exporters and manufacturers, is being organized.

An agreement has been negotiated under which port charges in both countries have been greatly reduced.

An agreement is near under which passport visa charges will be reduced. (The Russian charge on United States passports will be lowered from $22 to $5.)

Negotiations on debts and claims involving approximately $400,000,000 are rapidly approaching settlement.

Preliminary groundwork has been laid for the negotiations of a commercial treaty.

The United States treasury has removed its ban on the importation of Russian gold, pulpwood and matches.

Consulates Opened

Russia has established its first consulate in Washington and has announced that consulates soon will be opened in New York and San Francisco. American consulates are scheduled to be opened in the near future in four or five Russian commercial centers.

Bullitt's staff of experts on Russian affairs has been selected carefully from more than 100 eager candidates from the foreign service personnel, many of whom have studied the Russian language and Russian internal and international affairs over a period of years.

The state department has made no official announcement of the embassy staff, but it has been learned from authoritative sources that John Cooper Wiley of Indianapolis, and Bertel Kuniholm of Gardiner, Mass., have been selected as two chief assistants.

Wiley, now on duty in the state department, but formerly stationed in a number of important European and South American posts, will be counselor of embassy.

Marines On Traffic

Kuniholm, also on duty in the state department, formerly was assigned as consul general at Tallin, Estonia.

The war department has announced that First Lieut. Thomas D. White, air service, of Springfield, Ill., will be a distant military attache and air attache. White, formerly a language officer in the Far East, will take an army airplane with him.

It is known also that Major Philip Faymonville of Washington, D. C., will be designated military attache when his present duty at the war college is completed.

Captain David R. Nimmer, marine corps, will be attached to the embassy in command of seven marines who will, because of rather conditions in Moscow, act as chauffeurs for embassy motor cars.

Moscow is so overcrowded at the present time that it will be necessary for some of the embassy staff to live in one of the Soviet government hotels until the building now being made ready for the embassy is completed sometime in May. Several embassy officials will live with Ambassador Bullitt in the house he has rented until they are able to secure other accommodations.

WILL LEAVE JORDAN

Menominee: Rev. Father Henry Sorg, S. D. S., of Jordan college, is to leave the twin cities in the near future, having been recalled to Provincial headquarters at St. Nazianz, near Manitowoc, as director of studies and for the purpose of organizing, during the spring semester of 1934, the senior division at the seminary. The transfer is a temporary one. Father Henry will work with the administration of Jordan college in his official capacity as trustee, and he does to say, he would greatly prefer to remain at Jordan where he has labored since the college opened in 1932.

DETROIT SIGNS 'GOOSE' GOSLIN

Tigers in Running for Pennant, Declares Star Outfielder

Detroit, Feb. 8 (AP)—It took Outfielder Leon "Goose" Goslin and President Frank J. Navin only a few minutes of conversation today to come to terms on the salary for which Goslin will patrol the outer garden for the Detroit Tigers this season.

How many dollars it took, neither disclosed, but Navin announced that Goslin had signed a contract for the 1934 season.

Goslin, who has been a luminary for both the St. Louis Browns and the Washington Senators in recent years, came to the Tigers last December in a trade for Jonathan Stone.

There had been reports from the east that the new Tiger acquisition might prove to be a holdout, but they proved entirely premature.

Arriving today for his conference with Navin, Goslin predicted that the American league pennant chase this year would be a three-cornered race with Detroit, Washington and New York battling for the lead.

"And don't be surprised," he said, "if the Tigers win the pennant. We will have in Mickey Cochrane the greatest catcher in baseball and a pitching staff as good as any."

He said he expected Tommy Bridges to win 20 games and that Lynwood "Schoolboy" Rowe "should do as well if his arm is right again."

The Tigers open the playing season april 17 at Chicago, playing another series at Cleveland before giving Detroit fans their first look at the 1934 edition on April 24.

"SEZ ME"

by Ken Gunderman

In the February number of the Michigan high school athletic association bulletin is an interesting article written by Floyd A. Rowe, director of health education at Cleveland, entitled "Conduct at Basketball Games." The article by Rowe who is a former state director of physical education of Michigan, is a very timely one, particularly for the upper peninsula where conduct at some basketball games is getting just a little bit unwholesome.

Mr. Rowe points out in his article four contributing elements to the success or failure of the efforts to maintain basketball on a high plane. These elements he lists as the teams, the spectators, the officials, and the coaches and points out what is expected from each to make the game enjoyable for all concerned.

Concerning spectators, Rowe says, "Spectators sufficiently intelligent regarding the play of the game so they may recognize excellence of team play as well as an individual play are a great asset to the contest. Add to this a willingness to applaud good plays regardless of by whom made and an honest desire to see the better team win, and the situation becomes ideal."

Here in Escanaba, officials can well be proud of the general conduct of fans at local high school athletic contests. Referees who have worked here on numerous occasions say Escanaba crowds generally are not unreasonable, a situation far different than they found in many other peninsula towns. Booing is not unheard of here but the razzberries are usually mild. What there is of it is not particularly abusive.

Basketball fans should remember that any official in a local high school game bears the stamp of approval of the Michigan high school athletic association, the officials of the home town school and the officials of the visiting school. That that official is honest is taken for granted. His record proves he has a full knowledge of the game rules. He calls fouls and penalties as he sees them, without prejudice. That he may make a mistake once in awhile is conceded. It is the principle of the human equation. BUT HE WON'T ERR AS FREQUENTLY AS THE FANS WHO ARE DOING THE LOUDEST SQUAWKING OR MAKING THE MOST SINISTER THREATS.

Patriotism is a great factor in creating and maintaining interest in a high school basketball game. To root and cheer for your team is a noble practice. But to let that patriotism blind your eyes to all that is not to the best advantage of your own team is not only narrow but distinctly unfair. If the official calls a foul on your team, don't get all steamed up about it and threaten to "throw h'm out." Remember that your team is only being penalized for infringing on the rules and it is the official's duty to rule it as such. Otherwise, why have an official?

In the happening game here two weeks ago, more booing was heard than at any game here for some time. Some fans apparently lost sight of the fact that the Hematites were displaying the peaceful brand of basketball seen here this season. That the official did err on several occasions is conceded. But no one can deny that his rulings were not 100%.

Basketball is a game of human beings and human beings are not infallible. No official can see everything on the floor. Some fouls are certain to be missed, whether there is one official or two. All in all, Referee Seager did at least an average job of officiating in that game.

Tonight the Eskymos play Iron Mountain here. The rivalry between the schools is keen. If tradition is maintained, the game will be a hard fought one. Frank Judish of Stambaugh, considered one of the very best officials in the peninsula, will referee the battle. Fans, give him the same break you would expect if the situation were reversed and you were the official and he the fan who sits in judgment of your efforts. If he calls a foul which you did not see (or perhaps wouldn't recognize if you did see it), give him the benefit of the doubt. If he misses a foul which you did see, charge it to the law of average and forget about it.

Orcutt and Hicks Competing Today For Women's Title

Miami, Fla., Feb. 8 (AP)—Golf's perennial finalists—Maureen Orcutt and Helen Hicks—meet tomorrow at 36 holes for the Miami Biltmore amateur championship.

Those two leading feminine stars swept through to the last round of the winter classic today with 2 and 1 victories over their opponents.

Miss Orcutt of White Beeches, N. Y., eliminated Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City, defending champion, medalist and twice western titlist.

Miss Hicks won the right to meet her veteran opponent by trouncing Miss Marian Miley of Lexington, Ky.

The White Beeches player captured her match with Mrs. Hill with a last minute rally by taking the 16th and 17th holes after she was down at the turn and then squared the match on the 11th.

Reaching the ninth hole all square with Miss Miley, the Hewlett shot maker took the lead on the 10th, lost the 12th to tie the match, and then won the next three holes. She dropped the 16th but halved the next to clinch the game.

Wisconsin Schools Cancel Menominee

Lansing, Feb. 8 (AP)—The athletic suspension of Menominee high school will be observed by Wisconsin schools, according to a letter received today from P. E. Menominee's big athletic contest of the year is the annual football game with Marinette, Wis. According to Neverman's letter, Marinette will not be permitted to play Menominee until the suspension is lifted. Menominee is under suspension for using officials in the Marinette game who were not registered with the state association.

WARRANT ISSUED

A warrant has been issued for Paris McSweeney, charging him with drunken driving, following an accident at an early morning hour last Monday. F. M. O'Connor, lawyer for McSweeney reported to state police that he would have him on hand to answer to the charge at 9 a. m. on Thursday but they did not appear. The complaining witnesses reported a list of names of young people who were in the two cars involved those names being taken down by the state police. It now appears that one or more of the names may have been given in error. If so McSweeney's hearing will clear it up and a correction will then be made.

JOHN A. FALK HONORED ON 70TH BIRTHDAY

Grinstad, Dalsand, Sweden, the son of Andrew Johnson Falk and Maja Lisa Erikson. Of the nine brothers and sisters, four are living, Carl, of Horton, Norway; Peter, of Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. John Newberg (Anna) of Minneapolis; and Mrs. Fred Johnson (Mary) of Manistique.

His early education facilities were limited. He received his primary schooling at Grinstad and at the time of his immigration to this country his entire library consisted solely of the Bible, a song book, and catechism.

At the age of 15 his father lost his farm, and John with his other brothers and sisters who were old enough to work, were forced to seek his own means of livelihood. He obtained a job watching cattle on a near-by farm and the following year received a position as a regular farm hand for which he received the handsome salary of 48 kroner or a trifle more than $12.00 per month in United States money.

Then he heard about wealthy America, letters coming from some of his friends who had recently come to the shores of the United States, stating that they were receiving 100 kroner or $27 per month.

John, who was ambitious and always striving to get ahead, desired greatly to go to this "land of opportunity" which offered one so much in worldly goods. In this way he could be of real help to his parents and family. The big obstacle, however, was to obtain funds to provide for his passage across the Atlantic.

He remembered of an uncle on his mother's side who some years before had gone to the United States and who was now residing at Corning, New York. He wrote to the uncle and soon was in possession of a one-way $29 ticket to the land that beckoned.

On April 1, 1882 young John, then only a youth of 18, arrived in the port of New York on the White Star liner Adriatic. Three days later he was met by his uncle, John Swenson, of Corning.

Then began his hard uphill climb through the work-a-day world. He had little trouble in securing his first job with a railroad construction crew at the fine salary of $1.50 per day. Now he could earn almost as much in a week as he was getting in Sweden in an entire month.

Came Here In 1882

When the construction work was completed he found work in Stockdale, Penn., where he worked only for a short time before his adventurous spirit brought him westward to Manistique where he docked on September 28, 1882, nearly 52 years ago. At that time there were no railroads in this vicinity and all transportation was done on foot, horseback, wagon, and by water.

Upon his arrival here he secured employment in the sawmill of the Chicago Lumber company at the rate of $1.62 per day. Woodsmen at that time were getting from $18 to $22 a month plus board. Some years later he received a position in the company's general merchandise store where he worked for the next ten years, his top salary being $45 per month.

Realizing that a bit of schooling in merchandising would not be amiss, John in the fall of 1889, went to Chicago where he took a short business course, returning to the employ of the Chicago Lumber company the following spring.

In 1895 during the Cleveland Panic, one of the hardest and most trying this country has ever experienced (excluding that of the present), Mr. Falk entered into partnership with John Anderson in a general merchandise store. In 1899 Mr. Falk sold out his interests and entered the firm of E. W. Miller and Co., a short time later taking over the entire general merchandise business.

He continued in this capacity until 1918 when he sold out the entire stock. Five years later he started his present hardware business at the present location on Deer street, Mr. Falk having owned the building for some years prior.

Political Career

Although he never sought any political office, he was, in several instances, prevailed upon to run, and his immense popularity always placed him in office.

In 1926 at the inception of the council-manager form of government in Manistique, Mr. Falk was elected to a two year term on the council and then was re-elected for a four year term, relinquishing that office in 1932. Prior to this time, about the turn of the century, Mr. Falk held the office of village clerk and was later elected treasurer of Manistique township. He was also a member of the board of supervisors and the board of public works.

Always a man of earnest religious conviction, Mr. Falk first attended the local American Baptist church when it was organized here in 1883. When he came here the year prior there was no established church in the city. Mr. Falk joined the local Swedish Baptist church upon its organization here in 1885 and since that time has supported it devoutly, both materially and spiritually.

For many years he served as a Sunday School teacher, deacon, held the treasurership for a long term, served as auditor, and acted as trustee for more than 30 years. He was also a trustee for the Swedish Baptist conference in the upper peninsula.

When the jubilee fund commemorating the three hundredth anniversary of the first immigration of Swedes into this country, was launched in 1923, Mr. Falk was appointed as representative for this territory.

Along with his numerous other offices, Mr. Falk for twenty years was a member of the board of directors of the First National Bank of this city.

In 1904, he was united in marriage to Miss Elvira Backwell. Two children were born, Paul Adolphus, who passed away on March 7, 1933, and Elizabeth Pauline, now residing at home.

Mr. Falk's real estate holdings include a 160-acre farm four miles east of the city, in which he takes great pride.

Worry over the death of his son and a recent illness has sapped greatly the vitality of Mr. Falk, but he is apparently on the way to recovery and is still actively engaged in the managing of his hardware business. His numerous local friends wish him many more years of happiness, a happiness richly deserved by this hardy pioneer who has accomplished so much from humble beginnings through the practice of the Golden Rule and well-directed hard work.

Waples and Dunn May Keep Public Utilities Posts

Lansing, Feb. 7. (AP)—The possibility that two members of the Michigan public utilities commission may be retained temporarily by the Democratic administration appeared today.

Commissioners Robert H. Dunn, of Muskegon, and Harold Waples, of Ironwood, conferred with Governor Comstock. It was rumored the secret, preliminary inquiry conducted by the attorney general's department had failed to disclose any charges against them. It was believed possible they may file resignations, dated at the pleasure of the governor, inasmuch as they were freed from removal charges. Dunn is chairman of a national committee considering uniform bus and truck regulations which has hearings in Washington scheduled until May.

Governor Comstock said he would have an announcement to make relative to Commissioners Dunn and Waples Thursday. The investigation committee has completed its preliminary work and it was presumed removal charges against the other three members of the commission will be filed shortly by the governor.

URGES EMERGENCY TAX

Reed City, Feb. 7 (AP)—Rep. Miles M. Callaghan, Republican, said here Wednesday that he would introduce a resolution at the next special session of the legislature asking the governor to recommend an "emergency" state income tax unless the executive includes the item in his message to the legislators.
